

Personality Profile Article—Brainstorming

Directions: A personality profile is an article centering on one person. It may be about the person's hobbies, talents, or other aspects. Collect suggestions to share with others. (You do not necessarily need to select one of these articles to write about for your article.)

After listing the names of people, mention the general focus of the article. In some cases, you may not be able to name a particular person yet, but you may be able to give a focus idea. For example, you may want to visit with a community person with a particular occupation such as veterinarian, fitness club owner, or police officer.

Examples:

Person—Professional baseball player

Focus—his family tradition of being involved in baseball

Person—English teacher

Focus—her work on a science fiction novel

Person—Parent

Focus—his interest in sports photography
